

Street performance festival
Setagaya Art Town 2020
Sancha de Daidogei

Saturday, October 17 and Sunday, October 18

Outline

The streets, the theatre and the houses coming together as one!

There is something different about this year's Sancha de Daidogei.

Sancha de Daidogei is the two days of the year when Sangenjaya transforms into an "art town".

But there is something a little different about it this year!

Every year, Sancha de Daidogei plays host to 200,000 visitors. With the safety of our visitors in mind, the festival will be taking place in a slightly different form this year.

Remember to check information such as venue, time and ticket reservation methods in advance, and enjoy all the different locations!

■ Daidogei on Stage

12:00 and 17:30 (Doors open 45 minutes before show starts) Venue: Setagaya Public Theatre

Free admission. Reservation required *Tickets will not be sold on the day of the performance.

It's... not quite street performance, but this year, the street performers will be gathering at the Setagaya Public Theatre! The performances at the theatre will also be streamed online, as we endeavor to deliver the performances safely by avoiding the 3C's.
